

Cain, Billy

From: Roan, Frank
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 10:35 AM
To: ML MAVERICK PRODUCTIONS
Cc: Young, Neil
Subject: TOP-SELLING PC GAMES, JAN. 11-17

Activision's [ATVI] Quake II spent two weeks in the limelight fending off Broderbund's [BROD] Myst and Riven. Incredible game engine or not, Quake II couldn't forever fend off the $20 Myst, which reclaimed the top spot. Titles built upon existing properties continue to dominate sales charts as franchises like Myst/Riven, Quake, Tomb Raider and Wing Commander are, in effect, among interactive entertainment's household names. Legos and Scrabble, in their non-interactive forms, have been household names for years. And reincarnated industry vet Frogger continues to impress both fans of retro and en vogue polygons. (PC Data, Ann Stephens, president, 703/435-1025)

This Week	Last Week	Title	Publisher	Average Price
1	4	Myst	Broderbund	$21
2	5	Microsoft Flight Simulator	Microsoft	$44
3	2	Riven: The Sequel to Myst	Broderbund	$40
4	1	Quake II	Activision	$45
5	3	Tomb Raider II	Eidos	$44
6	7	Frogger	Hasbro Interactive	$38
7	8	Microsoft Age of Empires	Hasbro Interactive	$45
8	*	Lego Island	Mindscape	$35
9	*	Scrabble	Hasbro Interactive	$30
10	*	Wing Commander Prophecy	Electronic Arts	$42

 The only EA game to make the list!! :)