I want to know what you see for the possible "losing" end of this mission. The presence of the ShipKiller in the same nav as the Midway would probably make the frames suffer a great deal. However, if the firing sequence of the shipkiller's attack on the midway is a 'flic' instead of gameplay, we should be able to get away with not having them in the same action sphere.

Just looking for some input.
Lemme know what you think...
