

Wing Commander Prophecy Series Overview

Series : C

Series Objectives / Description

SERIES C: SUMMARY

The Midway retreats to the G'wriss star system to regroup and send a distress comm to a Confed Starbase. However, our heroes quickly learn their communications link in the nearby H'hrrass System, a Confed Relay Station, has been cut -- and the alien cruiser group that destroyed the Kilrathi fleet is closing in on the Midway.

Casey's initial mission has two parts. First, he must aid a distant supply convoy. Second, he must defend the Midway against several wings of light fighters. Each wing attacks a separate object on the Midway; one the engines, the other the radar dish, another the shield generator, etc.

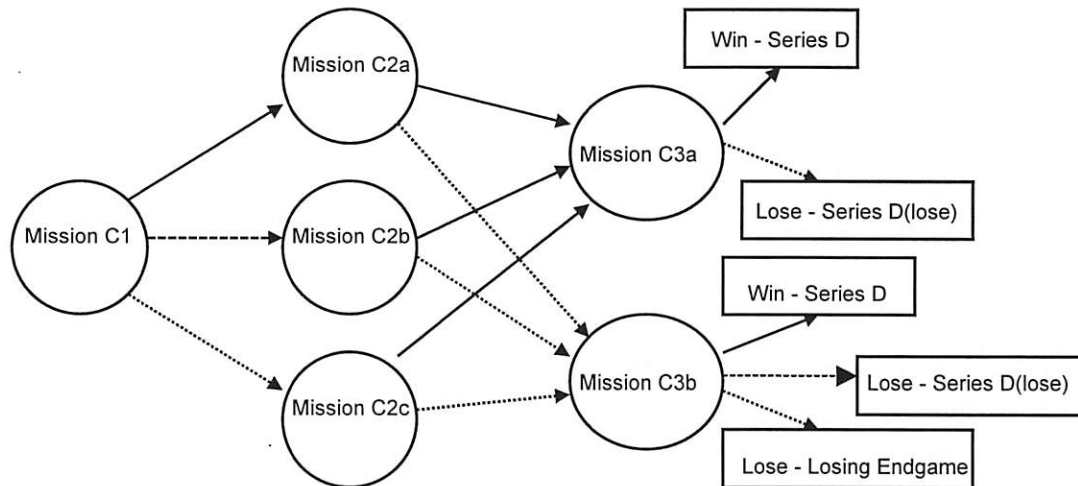

The difficulty level of the next mission will depend upon Casey and his Wingmen's success in the first mission and how much damage the carrier has taken. Casey will launch a search and destroy mission against a pair of Destroyers.

If Casey is totally successful, the final mission(s) of the Series will be an attack on an enemy cruiser group. This will lead to a big clash with the alien cap ship group; either with the enemy being the aggressor if Casey has screwed the pooch, or the Midway taking the fight to the aliens after gaining the upper hand.

On the character front, Casey will lose a friend in battle - his first personal loss of the war.

Mission Flowchart / Tree

Mission C1 - Roles and Objectives

Mission Type:

Rescue/Escort/Defend

Mission Objectives

After running from the alien fleet in series B, the Midway is cutoff from its supply routes. The player and Maestro are sent to intercept the convoy before the aliens do. Regrettably they can only save a refueling ship.

On the way back the player will receive a distress call from the Midway saying they're under attack and for "all available pilots – return and defend the Midway". The player will then have a limited time to destroy any remaining fighters he is engaged with and return to base before parts of the Midway begin being destroyed by the aliens.

Upon arriving at the Midway they find it under attack and can longer launch defense fighters. They will then assist in the defense of the Midway, being told were they are needed by the comm officer on the Midway.

If the player deviates from his nav course he will be jumped by 4-6 alien light fighters and receive the Midway distress call.

If he has not yet rendezvoused with the refueling ship it will be immediately lost. There will be an alien spy eye probe on the edge of the Midway action area when the player returns.

If the player finds and destroys the probe, the aliens attack on the Midway will be less organized and not as effective, breaking formation and running whenever threatened.

The player will then be briefed about the probe the next time it is used.

- Follow assigned nav route/Defend what's left of the convoy/Escort refueling ship back to base/Defend Midway

Bonus Objective

- Destroy alien spy eye probe

Complete success

- Go to Mission C2a

Moderate success - (bridge on Midway gets damaged)

- Go to Mission C2b

Complete failure - (engines on Midway get damaged)

- Go to Mission C2c

Total, Complete failure - (Midway is destroyed utterly, by both engines and bridge being damaged)

- FLICK – Midway being overrun.
- Roll credits
- Game Over.

Note - If the player allows the refueling ship to get destroyed there will not be another until series G.

Eject –

- Game Over.

What's new:

- Player MUST follow his assigned Nav route.
- Player will fight the first alien cluster fighters (“Unidentified” on targeting computer)..
- Player will dock with rearming ship.
- First alien spy-eye controller. This is an alien tool for helping them concentrate their attacks. If the player destroys this, they will not use the same tactics in flight to take out the Midway.

Electrifying events in the Mission:

- Player will be told in the briefing that there is little chance of reaching the supply convoy.
- When the player shows up at the supply convoy and finds that he cannot save the entirety of it, he will feel great loss – plus he'll get to see some great explosions.
- Player will fight against the second type of alien ship. A cluster fighter. These ships have a completely new method of flight. They fly in 'threes' and link together for a more powerful forward weapon. Their weakness is that they're more vulnerable from the rear. They can also break apart and act as individual fighters.
- Player will have the first opportunity to dock with the refueling ship (it will survive long enough for the player to meet it, and it will give him full instructions as to how to do it. This is unprecedented in Wing Commanders.
- Also, if this refueling ship is destroyed, there will NOT be a replacement for a LONG time. This should give the player extra incentive to protect it.
- On the way back to the Midway, the Midway will comm that its under attack, and it will give the player an extra sense of urgency to help defend it.
- When the player is defending the Midway, the aliens are going to be targeting the specific parts of the ship (the shield emitters for the bridge, engines and launch bays, and then the bridge, engines and bays themselves). This will teach the player how to defend cap ships and how to attack enemy ships.

- If the player notices and destroys the alien Spy-Eye Probe, the alien attacks will be less focused on the specific parts of the Midway.
- Also, the condition of the Midway at the end of the mission will determine which mission to load next.

Mission C2a - Roles and Objectives

Mission Type:

Escort/Defend (After being completely successful in the first mission.)

Mission Objectives

The player is sent to intercept an alien destroyer before it joins up with the rest of the alien fleet.

He will have a limited amount of time to destroy all alien fighter cover before Shrikes from the Black widows squadron appear and attempt to torpedo the destroyers.

This mission should be considerably easier than C2b or C2c. The player will have to destroy less fighter cover, or have more time before the retreat is called and he must return to the Midway.

- Escort Shrikes safely to the destroyers. Destroy fighter cover around the destroyers. Aid in destruction of destroyers.

Complete success - Go to mission C3a SL-37

Complete failure - (player has failed to safely defend Shrikes and or the destroyer(s) have not been destroyed) Go to mission C3b SC-37

Mission C2b - Roles and Objectives

Mission Type:

Escort/Defend (The same as C2a but the player must search 3 NAV points to find the destroyer and faces more enemy with less time before the retreat is called.)

Mission Objectives

The player is sent to intercept an alien destroyer before it joins up with the rest of the alien fleet.

He will have a limited amount of time to destroy all alien fighter cover before Shrikes from the Black widows squadron appear and attempt to torpedo the destroyers.

This mission should be considerably easier than C2b or C2c. The player will have to destroy less fighter cover, or have more time before the retreat is called and he must return to the Midway.

Mission C2c - Roles and Objectives

Mission Type:

Escort/Defend (Same as C2b, but the player must destroy two enemy destroyers at two different NAV points.)

Mission Objectives

The player is sent to intercept an alien destroyer before it joins up with the rest of the alien fleet.

He will have a limited amount of time to destroy all alien fighter cover before Shrikes from the Black widows squadron appear and attempt to torpedo the destroyers.

This mission should be considerably easier than C2b or C2c. The player will have to destroy less fighter cover, or have more time before the retreat is called and he must return to the Midway.

Series Losing Path

The player can lose this series by letting the Midway get destroyed in C3b. Or if the player fails to safely escort the Shrikes to the Carrier in C3a or C3b, the Midway will call the retreat and jump out of the system to series D's losing missions. If the player fails to land on the Midway within a certain time limit after the retreat is called he will get left behind. Losing C3a or C3b (without letting the Midway get destroyed or getting left behind) will force the player to fly a couple of extra defend the Midway missions in series D before heading to the relay station. Also if the refueling ship gets destroyed in C1, it will not be available again until the reinforcements arrive in series G.

DL

What's New in this Series (Springboards)

The confed refueling ship will be seen and used for the first time.
The player will escort Shrike bombers for the first time.
This will be the first time the alien spy eye probe will be encountered in spaceflight.

What's Being Built on in this Series

After retreating in series B the Midway is now cutoff. If the refueling ship is destroyed the player will not be able to use it until the reinforcements arrive in series G. Series D will be tougher if the player fails to destroy the Carrier, and he will be sent to the losing series L after series D.

Pre-Mission C1

INT. MIDWAY BRIEFING ROOM MISSION (C1)

27

The CAG is in mid-briefing:

CAG

Now that we have withdrawn to the G'wriss System, the Midway has been cut off from her normal supply routes. But the situation is far from bleak... this ship was designed to stand alone for months at a time. However, we do have a situation on our hands. Check your ICIS.

Casey (et al) looks down.

ICIS VOICE OVER:

ICIS BEGINS

CAG

(VO)

Long range scans indicate that a Confed convoy, en route to the Taliban colony, will be in striking distance of a large force of unknowns on its current trajectory. The alien force has jammed all of our attempts to warn the convoy and is closing fast to intercept. There seems to be little that we can do to prevent this, but we must aid and assist the convoy to the best of our ability.

ICIS ENDS

BRIEFING DISMISSAL:

CAG

Good luck. Dismissed.

BRIEFING ENDER:

INT. MIDWAY BRIEFING ROOM (OPTION 1- IF YOU TALKED TO DALLAS) 28
(Briefing Ender)

As the Pilots break up and head for the door. Dallas approaches Casey.

DALLAS
Hope for the best, and keep on flying. Right?

CASEY
Couldn't have put it better myself.

DALLAS
Let's go kick some alien ass.

As they EXIT together, Stiletto steps into frame and smiles to herself.

INT. MIDWAY BRIEFING ROOM (OPTION 2-IF YOU DIDN'T) 29
(Briefing Ender)

Dallas gives Casey a hard look.

DALLAS
Break a leg... pal.

He EXITS frame. Casey, stunned, stops. Stiletto pauses for a moment to prep her suit.

CASEY
What's his problem?

STILETTO
I don't know... maybe your "kind words of encouragement." Look, Dallas is one of your wingmen. You can see he's having a hard time of it and your just ignoring the situation. Keep it up and he may not be there when you really need him. Or didn't they teach you that in Flight school.

She curtly moves on, leaving him alone in frame. He exhales and follows. This isn't getting any better.

LANDING ENDER:

Insert landing ender here. Ex: Walk to decontam chute, Maniac gives you a hug for rescuing his ejected pilot, etc.

Designer Notes:

This is a two part mission. The player and Maestro will initially be sent on a long range rendezvous and escort mission. The alien cruiser fleet has positioned itself between the Midway and its supply routes.

An undefended(or lightly defended) supply convoy, unaware of the Alien presence, has come within reach of the Aliens. Long range communications will draw too much attention(or we could just say there too slow too get away and warn the rest of humanity) so they cannot be warned.

The players mission is to try to rendezvous with the convoy before the aliens get to it, and escort them back to the Midway, trying too avoid the alien fleet the whole way. After encountering stiff resistance on the way, the player arrives at the convoy to find the aliens are already on the attack.

The slower transports will be destroyed immediately. The player will only have time to save a refueling/rearming ship. After destroying the last of the enemy, the player will get a comm from the rearming ship telling him to dock, refuel, and rearm(if the rearming ship survives of course). They will then escort the refueling ship back to the Midway.

Upon arriving at the Midway NAV point they find the Midway under attack by waves of alien fighters. The player is informed by the Midway that the launch tubes/bays have been damaged(maybe by a Vampire being destroyed on launch) and cannot launch any more fighters.

They are instructed to support the remaining Vampires. The enemy will consist of 4-6 wings of light fighters, with each wing containing 3-6 enemy depending on the players skill level. Three of the wings will have separate daughter objects as there target.

The last wing will be behind the others and split up once the battle begins, each protecting a separate enemy wing. The guarding enemy fighters will harass the confed pilots and try to lure them away from the action. If the carrier is starting to take damage to one of its points of interest it should have a specific "Help needed" comm for that area.

Once an enemy wing has destroyed an object they will break and run, disappearing once they get a good distance away from the player (15-20k). The fighter or fighters guarding them will start guarding another wing of attackers. Once all of the enemy wings have accomplished there missions, or have been destroyed, they will all turn and run.

There will be an alien 'spy eye' probe sitting just outside of the Midway NAV point that the player can destroy if he notices it. If the probe is destroyed, the aliens assault on the Midway will be less effective, and they will be more likely to break formation and run.

Mission Win / Lose Effects

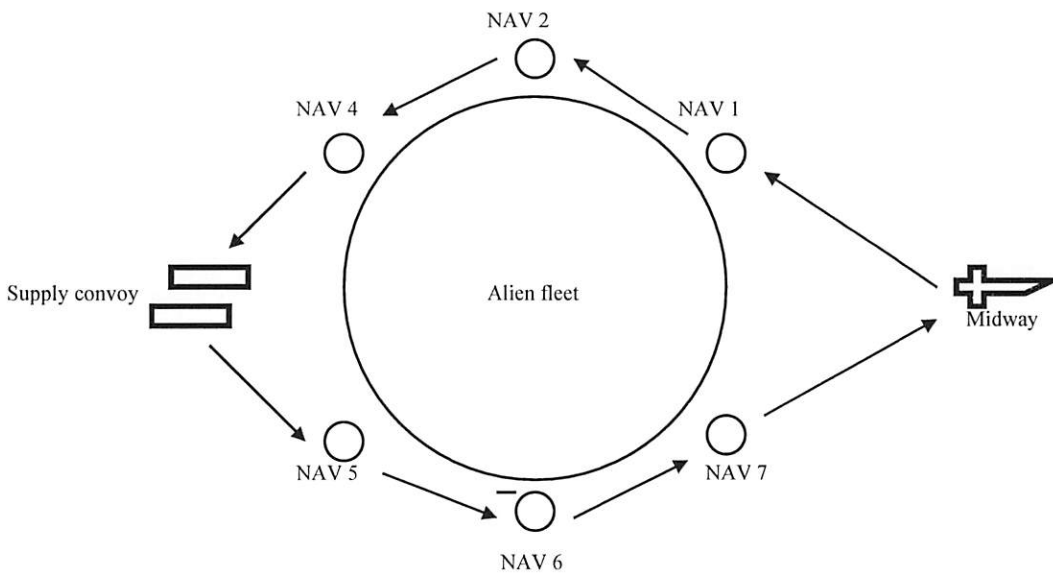

If the player and his wingmen are completely successful in defending the carrier from attack the next mission will be C2a. If the bridge and/or communications are taken out, C2b. If the engines are destroyed, C2c. There will also be repercussions to not keeping the refueling ship alive, like it not being there later on in the game until series G.

Mission Outline

1. Player and wingman launch from the Midway and head for NAV 1.
2. At each 'NAV' point(1-3 and 5-7), the player will encounter a random number and type of enemy (0-8 light to heavy fighters)
3. When the player reaches the supply convoy swarms of alien light fighters will be finishing of the last of the 2-3 transports in the supply convoy leaving only the refueling ship for the player to defend.
4. After defeating the enemy the player will be told by the refueling ship that he can dock and rearm/refuel.
5. When the players wing reaches Nav 7 he will receive a distress call from the Midway and have X amount of time to return to his carrier before various child objects begin to be destroyed by the alien force attacking it.
6. Upon returning to the Midway the player is instructed by the comm officer to defend various vital areas of the carrier.
7. There will be an alien probe directing the assault on the Midway. If the player destroys the Alien 'spy eye' probe, the aliens attacks on the Midway become more chaotic and less effective.

Note - If the player fails to follow the Nav path, or attempts to return home before he has rendezvoused with the supply convoy, he will be ambushed by alien fighters and receive the Midway distress call(as per Nav 7) and have to return home before it is damaged too badly.

Special Art / Objects

1. Confed refueling ship
2. Confed transport
3. Alien 'spy eye' probe

Special Sound Effects

1. Docking with the refueling ship noise

Additional Comments

The player should be told during the briefing that there is little chance of him reaching the convoy in time (so people playing the game won't think they screwed up before getting there and play the mission over), but to survey the area anyway. Also maybe mention the refueling ship might be there, and give vague docking instructions.

If the player destroys the alien probe, the next time it appears (series F) he will be vaguely briefed on it's workings and importance to the aliens when they do long range cap-ship assaults.

This is the first time the player will encounter:

- Multi-Role fighter
- Cluster Fighter

Read notes on briefing info. (I had this note myself, so I put it in. Not sure what it means, though. – bjc)

She taps her remote. On the screen, PUSH IN on the cruiser group. As the CAG speaks, HIGHLIGHT its shielding cover of two destroyers located at separate nav points.

CAG

First step, eliminate these two destroyers at Nav Points One and Two. This won't be easy; their fighter screen is extensive. Lieutenant Casey's Alpha Flight will deal with the fighters while Bravo launches its Devastators. And don't take your time; we have none to spare. Check your loadout specs.

Designer notes:

The enemy cruiser group has been located. The player and his wingman(Alpha team) are sent to clear the way for an all out assault. Between the two cap-ship groups are 2 enemy destroyers with fighter cover the player must take out. He will have X amount of time to take out the fighter cover at each of the two destroyer nav points before the Midway calls the retreat. Once the fighter cover is destroyed, two Shrikes(Bravo team) show up and proceed to torpedo the destroyer at each NAV point. The player will have to defend them as more alien fighters appear to thwart the bombers. If successful, C3a. If not, C3b.

INT. MIDWAY - BRIEFING ROOM - MISSION (C2c)

BEGIN on the main screen and an astral map. An ICON that represents the Midway is nearing a designated JUMP POINT. As she SPEAKS, PULL BACK to INCLUDE a grim-faced CAG:

CAG (on/OS)

We can be thankful the Midway has moved within spitting distance of the jump point to the H'hrass System. Once we repair the Relay Station there, we can call Confed for help.

She taps her hand-held remote. A large group of ICONS appear between the Midway and the jump point:

CAG

Unfortunately an alien cruiser group is waiting for us at the jump point. This a strong force... possibly part of the same group that destroyed the Kilrathi fleet in the H'rekka system. Our job is to keep these ships off the Midway's back until she can make her jump.

She tapes her remote. On the screen, PUSH IN on the cruiser group. As the CAG speaks, HIGHLIGHT two destroyers headed toward the Midway.

CAG

We must eliminate these two destroyers before they hit us. Unfortunately the Midway was badly damaged in the last battle and can barely maneuver.

On the main screen; three INTERCEPT POINTS appear between the approaching destroyers and the Midway.

CAG

The enemy Destroyers could intercept the Midway at any of three Nav Points. Lieutenant Casey, your Alpha Flight has very limited time to cover them all, so move quickly.

The screen goes black, and the CAG turns back to her pilots.

CAG

As soon as Alpha Flight has wiped out the destroyers' fighter screens, Bravo Flight will make a torpedo run on both ships. Check your loadout specs.

Designer notes:

The Midway is heavily damaged and can no longer run from the alien fleet. The player and his wingman(Alpha team) are sent to find and intercept two alien destroyers that are in front of the rest of the alien fleet before they corner the Midway. He will have X amount of time to cover all three nav points before the Midway calls the retreat. Once the fighter cover is destroyed, two Confed bombers(Bravo team) show up and proceed to torpedo the destroyer at each NAV point.
